“ Aunt Helen was my Godmother with Uncle Chuck being my Godfather. My Aunt Helen was soft spoken with a special laugh like no others and I always felt special around her. When I was younger I would spend weekends there with my cousins and it was a whole different world to me. Aunt Helen and I would spend time together doing what I would call girl things. We'd set and talk about what I'd been up to sense she last saw me. What would I'd like to have for dinner that night. She'd ask me if I'd like to help bake a dessert for dinner. I'd say yes and shortly after the cake was in the oven she'd say "I'm sure you're ready to go outside and play with the boys. Holliday's at grandma and grandpa's home are unforgettable for all the families I'm sure. Women in the kitchen cooking and men not sure what they did. I know a lot of LOVE hung around our grandparents place from kids and adults both. Tons of love to you Aunt Helen and Aunt Marggi for giving me some special memories and loving times in my childhood. Take good care Lord of all who you have called home!

“ My Aunt Helen was always so loving and kind. She had the gift for a good conversation and I loved talking with her. My Mom, her Husbands Sister, enjoyed visiting and chatting it up with Helen until the wee hours of the night. She rests now with God, for that I am sure. So much love for the entire family. Hugs always. Patricia Graham
